17 Insurance Income:

The Internal Revenue Code (IRC) rules govern the taxation of employer-provided group-term life insurance. The value of coverage up to $50,000 is excluded from taxation. The value in excess of $50,000 must be included in income and is subject to Social Security and Medicare withholding. The Internal Revenue Service provides uniform premiums rates, by age brackets, which are used to calculate the taxable value. The taxable portion is reduced by the amount the employee paid for the coverage.

When applicable, the system calculates an imputed income gross regardless of the number of hours an employee is paid in a pay period. Imputed income is based on the employee's life insurance coverage rather than the number of paid hours.

Any applicable social security and/or Medicare deductions based on the pay period insurance income amount will show under the Deductions section of the earnings statement as follows:

- Social Security (deducted on Ins Income)
- Medicare (deducted on Ins Income)

Adjustments Page Overview

The Adjustments Page is a major component of the new electronic earnings statement. The main objective of the Adjustments Page is to provide the details of any adjustments that will impact the employee's current net pay. Adjustments shown on this page will be limited to only those that affect the net of the current pay period. This statement will provide employees with all of the data necessary to perform a gross to net reconciliation of their earnings statement.

All the individual sections of the Adjustments Page will be displayed in detail for each relevant pay period adjusted and each will display on a separate Adjustments page, from top to bottom in reverse chronological order starting with the most recent relevant pay period. The relevant pay period is listed in PP/YYYY format and the inclusive dates of the pay period are displayed in MM/DD/YY – MM/DD/YY format.

NOTE: The maximum number of adjustment pages will be eleven. The first ten adjustment pages will contain detail adjustment information by pay period. If adjustments exceed ten detail pages, the eleventh adjustment page will display a summary of all remaining adjustments.

8 Insurance Income

The Internal Revenue Code (IRC) rules govern the taxation of employer-provided group-term life insurance. The value of coverage up to $50,000 is excluded from taxation. The value in excess of $50,000 must be included in income and is subject to Social Security and Medicare withholding. The Internal Revenue Service provides uniform premiums rates, by age brackets, which are used to calculate the taxable value. The taxable portion is reduced by the amount the employee paid for the coverage.

When applicable, the system calculates an imputed income gross regardless of the number of hours an employee is paid in a pay period. Imputed income is based on the employee's life insurance coverage rather than the number of paid hours.

Any applicable social security and/or Medicare deductions based on the pay period insurance income amount will show under the Deductions section of the earnings statement as follows:

- Social Security (deducted on Ins Income)
- Medicare (deducted on Ins Income)
